Cellebrite

Human Trafficking Investigative Workflow

Human trafficking exploits individuals through force, fraud or coercion for labor or commercial sex acts*, impacting MILLIONS worldwide each year. Digital evidence plays a vital role in combating this crime, enabling law enforcement to uncover essential evidence and build stronger cases. Here's how Cellebrite solutions can enhance your investigative workflow and accelerate cases:

Collect and Access the Evidence — Decode and Examine — Generate Reports and Collaborate Across Teams — Investigate and Analyze — Prosecute

Collect and Access the Evidence

Are you struggling to collect and unlock devices efficiently?

Without the right technology, accessing devices can be time-consuming, especially if you're locked out after too many failed attempts.

- Collect: Obtain a warrant for a device or gain consent from its owner for quick field access to investigate a potential human trafficking case.
- Intake: Collect and log multiple devices (smartphones, tablets, laptops, etc.) related to an investigation. Cellebrite allows you to maintain a secure chain of custody and optimize workflows while prioritizing devices for a fast turnaround.
- Access: Leverage Cellebrite to lawfully and quickly gain full file system access to the widest range of supported devices to reveal key communications and locations related to the human trafficking incident.

*_https://www.dhs.gov/blue-campaign/what-human-trafficking_

Decode and Examine

Are you struggling to uncover hidden data and connect evidence among suspects?

Without the right technology, you're limited to live data, making it difficult to recover deleted messages human traffickers tried to hide.

- Decode: Cellebrite decrypts protected data, recovers deleted messages and parses hidden information like location artifacts to reveal where devices have been.
- Examine: With full file system access, you can examine deleted data and map out connections between individuals. Additionally, leveraging open-source data with Cellebrite tools can help uncover further connections.

Generate Reports and Collaborate Across Teams

Is the way you share evidence slowing down your investigation?

In human trafficking cases, real-time collaboration with other agencies is essential for coordinated efforts, and without the right tools, sharing and reviewing evidence can be difficult.

- Generate Report: Create detailed reports that organize key evidence and events with Cellebrite to strengthen your human trafficking case.
- Share/Review: Share reports with stakeholders instantly, enabling teams to quickly access and review critical digital evidence no matter where they are, speeding up the investigation.

Investigate and Analyze

Struggling to expose trafficking networks and gather crucial evidence for conviction?

Manually sifting through large volumes of evidence from multiple devices makes it difficult to review data and piece together the full story in human trafficking cases.

- Investigate and Analyze: Use Cellebrite to collaboratively review all digital evidence, visualizing data through maps and chat formats. Leverage AI to uncover crucial evidence that may have been missed or would be time-consuming to find. This can help expose human traffickers and larger networks.

Prosecute

Do you need more robust evidence to support prosecution and minimize the need for victims to testify?

Limited data recovery weakens cases, and incomplete reports prolong trial preparation, increasing reliance on victim testimony and hindering prosecution of higher-level offenders.

- Prosecute: With the digital evidence gathered using Cellebrite technology, you can present a compelling case in court. The 'digital witness' minimizes the need for victim testimony, facilitating swift prosecution across all levels of a criminal network.

Cellebrite empowers law enforcement agencies with advanced solutions to access, analyze and share digital evidence throughout the investigative workflow. This enhances the fight against human trafficking by enabling more effective investigations and stronger cases, ultimately accelerating justice for survivors.

Ready to take the next step?
Explore how Cellebrite's solutions can enhance your investigative process.

Take the Survey Now